Pretty nose of apricots, lemons, chopped apples and fresh pears. Some jasmine and spicy white pepper notes. Vibrant and flavorful, with a medium to full body, fantastic freshness and a lengthy finish. Drink now.

50 year old Garnacha Blanca, fermented and aged in 2000L stockinger foudres. This is a step up from the Vespres with a delicate, endearing note of tarragon to complement the ripe stone and orchard fruits. Chalky textured and with just the right amount of Garnacha “fat” on the palate. 2022 – 2030

The varietal Garnacha Blanca 2022 Granit keeps the waxy aromas of the grape and the mineral salinity of the soils that name the wine. The juice from the pressing of the full clusters fermented in a 2,000-liter oak foudre, where it matured for seven months. It has good ripeness, 13.6% alcohol and keeps a pH of 3.33 with five grams of acidity in this warmer year. It has volume and a juicy texture and finishes very tasty and long. This is a triumph over the conditions of the year. 8,023 bottles produced. It was bottled in April 2023. Drink: 2023–2028 —Luis Gutiérrez
