Rizzi
LANGHE NEBBIOLO - 2024

REGION: ITALY - PIEDMONT

RIZZI

Nestled at the very top of the impressively steep, vine-clad hills of the Treiso zone of Barbaresco, the winery's vineyards were planted as early as the 1960's in the white marl, calcareous soil typical of this area. An impressive selection of cru Barbaresci is punctuated by the spectacular Vigna Boito located at the peak of the Rizzi cru. The estate is managed entirely by the Dellapiana family with son Enrico as winemaker and viticulturist. Rizzi Winery participates in "The Green Experience" project which mandates guidelines for environmentally sustainable production.

THE WINE

Vineyard Profile

Estate vineyards in Treiso.

- Altitude: 750-1210 feet/230-370 meters
- Exposure: South-Southwest
- Soil: White marl, clayey-calcareous, with alernate sandy layers
- Vines Planted: 1995-2015
- Vine Training System: Guyot

Harvest Notes

- Hand harvested the 1st ten days of October
- Fermented in temperature controlled stainless steel tanks below 86ºF for 3 weeks
- Racked, then malolactic fermentation in tank for about a month
- Aged 12 months in large Slavonian oak barrels

Winemaker's Notes

Bright red ruby in the glass. Floral aromas combine with fruity and spicy notes. An elegant body with smooth tannins and a layered finish.

Technical Information

- 100% Nebbiolo
- Alcohol: 13.5%
- Total Acidity: 5.52 g/l
- Residual Sugar: 0.47 g/l

GENERAL INFO

Country	Italy
Region	Piedmont
Appellation(s)	Treiso, Neive, Neviglie
Proprietors	Enrico & Jole Dellapiana (brother and sister)
Founded	1974
Winemaker	Enrico Dellapiana
Annual Production	Between 7,500 to 9,000 9L cases